

tracks melting glaciers

CAREN allows Kyrgyzstan's Central Asian Institute of Applied Geosciences (CAIAG) to share monitoring data with European partners to mitigate flood risks for people living downstream CAREN sets out to create a regional high-capacity internet network for researchers, academics and students across Central Asia in partnership with the national research and education networks (NRENs).